

The program on one page

For professionals in Quebec · Version: 2026-09-20-r5

When clients launch a business, you already help them make important decisions. You can also help them choose the phone number they'll publish on their website, invoices and business cards. The WIGGWIGG kit gives you the copy and links to raise that question at the right moment.

- Handouts for your profession, ready to share in French and English.
- Copy for your emails, resources page and startup checklist.
- WIGGWIGG handles signup, billing and support for its service.
- No commission and no revenue share, so recommending WIGGWIGG creates no financial interest to manage. Participation is free, with no quota, exclusivity or technical integration.

A recommendation that is easy to pass along

Choose the handout for your profession in your client's language. It brings together practical considerations, service qualifications and useful links. Your client can then make their choice directly with WIGGWIGG.

The kit's links and QR code introduce the service. If WIGGWIGG confirms a client offer, it comes with its own terms and delivery flow; these resources do not activate it or confirm eligibility.

Your clients stay in control

The program does not request client or member lists. Participation gives no access to a WIGGWIGG account, and no client-level view of purchases or offer activity. Any report WIGGWIGG shares is aggregated and suppressed below a minimum number of accounts. You do not manage your clients' accounts.

Keep your independent professional judgment. WIGGWIGG does not guarantee compliance with your profession's obligations.

When a recommendation is a good fit

- The client is choosing public contact details for their business.
- They want to separate business calls from personal calls.
- They can use the service in a browser and accept the limitations of Early Access.
- They can confirm their Canadian province or territory of residence.
- They do not need to port an existing number right now.

If any point does not fit, check the client's needs before recommending WIGGWIGG.

Before recommending the service

- Phone services require confirmation of a Canadian province or territory of residence.
- You can use WIGGWIGG in a browser. Visit the apps page for current mobile options.
- Porting an existing number into WIGGWIGG is not available yet.

Early Access is a real, paid service, but a product under construction: core features can break, screens change without waiting for a new version, and an announced feature can be pulled while it is rebuilt.

Your business has its own accounts. What about its number?

Your business has its own accounts. This is also a good time to choose the number you will give your clients.

Three things to plan

1. Choose the number to include on your quotes and invoices.
2. Add your business contact details to your invoice template before sending the first one.
3. If you choose WIGGWIGG, keep your service invoices with the records you give your accountant.

The number to put on your website

Which number do you want on your website? WIGGWIGG can help you keep your personal number separate.

Three things to plan

1. Choose the number for your Contact page and website footer.
2. Ask your agency to check the call link on both phones and computers.
3. Once the service is active, make a test call before publishing your number.

Contact details for your new brand

Your new brand also includes the contact details your clients will keep.

Three things to plan

1. Choose the contact details that will appear alongside your logo on cards and brochures.
2. Give the same number to whoever prepares your email signature and public profiles.
3. Check every digit on the proof before approving the print run.

A number for your new business

A number for your business can be part of getting set up. It does not replace any legal steps.

Three things to plan

1. Choose the number for your everyday business communications.
2. Distinguish the contact details you share with clients from those required for official filings.
3. Check with your legal adviser which details each filing requires. The service does not replace that advice.

A number for your business communications

You can also choose a separate number for your business communications. This recommendation is independent of your insurance.

Three things to plan

1. Choose the number for everyday conversations with clients and suppliers.
2. Tell your broker which contact details to use for your file.
3. Keep the emergency and claims numbers provided by your insurer. WIGGWIGG does not replace those services or your broker's advice.

After your participation is confirmed

For professionals in Quebec · Version: 2026-09-20-r5

1. Confirm the written terms and your chosen client journey step with WIGGWIGG.
 2. Use the kit version provided by WIGGWIGG, in the client's language.
 3. Keep the service qualifications with the texts you share.
 4. For an offer, use its terms and the delivery flow confirmed by WIGGWIGG. The kit's public link and QR code do not activate it.
 5. Direct account questions to WIGGWIGG. Do not collect account identifiers, passwords or payment details.
 6. Have your first check-in with WIGGWIGG on the agreed date, using general themes without identifying clients.

Let's start with how you work

Email WIGGWIGG with your business name, your profession and the step where a resource about business phone numbers would help. No information about your clients is needed.

A few questions before introducing it

Who can participate?

The program is for small businesses and professionals in Quebec who regularly support new businesses. WIGGWIGG checks the fit with you and confirms each participation in writing.

Do I have to sell the service?

No. You can introduce it when it helps, with no quota. Your client decides and signs up directly with WIGGWIGG.

What tools do I receive?

Profession-specific client handouts, email templates and website copy in French and English. WIGGWIGG helps you choose where to use them in your client journey and answers your questions about the program.

Is there a commission?

No. The program pays no commission or revenue share.

Does the kit link give clients credit?

No. It is an information link. If WIGGWIGG confirms an offer, it comes with its own terms and delivery flow.

Who helps my client?

WIGGWIGG provides support for its service. Point your client to in-app support or support@wiggwigg.ca without collecting their sign-in or payment information.
